

Bring Christmas toys to Platinum Weekly SAPS WILL COLLECT WEEKLY!

Rustenburg – The Rustenburg Police come into contact with many needy children in their daily work. They are well aware of children in situations we could never imagine. These children don't know the excitement of ripping off wrapping paper and discovering the wonderful surprise it holds.

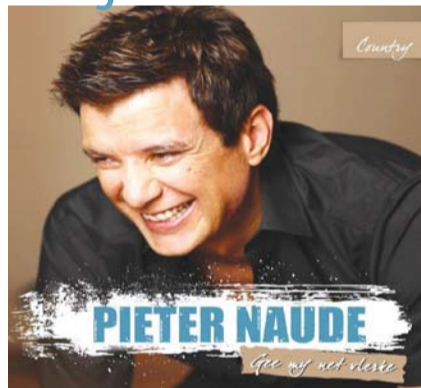

This year, with hearts of gold, Captain Elsabé Augoustides and Captain Karien du Plooy have taken the initiative upon themselves to bring the joy of Christmas to these little people. We appeal to the public to donate any clean, usable, educational toys, soft toys, scooters or bicycles... your kids might have outgrown or no longer use.

We request that each toy is wrapped and marked with the age and gender the gift is intended for.

All donations can be dropped off at the Platinum Weekly offices at 50 Marais street, Rustenburg. Toys will be collected on a weekly basis and distributed amongst the neediest of children.

LifeLine gives back

Rustenburg – To thank the staff for their dedication and as a way to show their appreciation, LifeLine Rustenburg treated their staff to a wellness day on Thursday, 30 November. The staff at LifeLine often deals with the darker aspects of human nature and face some sensitive situations on a daily basis. The wellness day is a way of giving back to the staff. Activities held on the day included a presentation by a dietician, nurses gave a speech on cervical cancer, and the staff took part in two yoga classes. Old Mutual and Willa Krause sponsored the lucky draw prizes for the staff. LifeLine intends on making this a biannual event as a way of thanking and giving back to their staff. Says Wendy Leitner, financial manager at LifeLine Rustenburg: "LifeLine would like to thank their staff for their passion, dedication and commitment throughout the year. We also thank Old Mutual and Willa Krause for their donations."
