CON ARTIST CAUGHT

Rustenburg – A man identified as the brains behind a scam in which people in Rustenburg were being tricked and robbed of their bank cards, cash, groceries and other valuables, was arrested on Saturday 14 September and hauled before the courts to account for his crimes. Before his arrest, the suspect conned unsuspecting victims by making them believe they would receive a large sum of money if they agree to play along with his elaborate act. Police spokesperson captain Elsabé Augoustides said the criminals used cunning and devious ways to gain the trust of their victims. During one of their scams, a victim was approached after she spotted a person dropping a bag of money. “The suspect told the woman to remain silent and that she will receive a share of that money if she did not alert the person who dropped the bag,” Elsabé said. “Another conman, impersonating a police officer, would then approach the two and ‘arrest them for stealing an innocent person’s money’,” she added. The woman believed she was being arrested, and the fake police officer ordered her to accompany him to a location where her fingerprints would be taken. He also ordered her to leave her cell phone, bank cards and other belongings behind. “As soon as she turned the corner and was out of sight, they would flee with her belongings,” Elsabé explained. The scammer was apprehended through a coordinated effort by police detectives, personnel from the Bojanala Crime Unit (BCU) and Community Policing Forum (CPF). The suspect, who appeared briefly before the Rustenburg Magistrates’ Court on Monday 16 September, has been charged with possession of stolen property. At the time of his arrest, he was in possession of a fake driver’s license and a stained cash note. The suspect’s accomplices are yet to be arrested. Anyone with more information regarding their whereabouts is requested to contact detective constable Elias Mokonopi Mathibe on 078 961 8160.
