CLICK WITH CARE
Online Scammers
Target Local Residents,
SAPS Warns

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Residents are being urged to stay alert when shopping or interacting online as fraudsters increasingly target unsuspecting community members through fake websites, deceptive advertisements and digital scams. The South African Police Service (SAPS) in Rustenburg has raised concern about a noticeable rise in online fraud incidents. In a media statement released on 24 February 2026, the Office of the Bojanala Platinum Sub-District 2 Commissioner warned that criminals are taking advantage of the growing popularity of online shopping and digital services. Warrant officer Ofentse Mokgadi said scammers are becoming more sophisticated and are using a variety of digital platforms to deceive victims into handing over money or personal information. According to the police, fraudsters often create fake websites that mimic legitimate businesses, post fraudulent advertisements on genuine online platforms, or send misleading notifications about prizes, competitions or special deals. Authorities say that while online shopping can be convenient, it also requires vigilance from consumers.

SAFETY TIPS TO PREVENT ONLINE FRAUD

Police encourage residents to follow simple safety practices to reduce the risk of falling victim to online scams:

- Choose reputable websites: Buy from trusted and established online retailers that have clear procedures for resolving disputes.
- Be aware of risks: Scammers often target online shoppers using fake platforms.
- Watch out for scams: Criminals may create fake websites or post fraudulent advertisements.
- Do your research: Verify sellers, compare prices and read independent reviews before making purchases.
- Check website security: Make sure the website address begins with "https" and displays a padlock symbol. Keep receipts and confirmation emails.
- Be sceptical of unexpected messages: Do not share personal information in response to prize claims or competitions you never entered.
- Trust your instincts: If a deal seems too good to be true, it usually is.

REPORT SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY

Residents who suspect online fraud are urged to report it immediately by calling 08600 10111, reporting through the MySAPS App, or visiting their nearest police station.

'Julle steun beteken die wêreld vir ons'

– Koster-kindere sê dankie

Ek, William Koster, die oudste seun van George en Wilma Koster, wat op 14 Junie 2025 tydens die skietvoerval by Rustenburg Platinum Square oorlede is, wil graag namens ons drie kinders my opregte dank betoon aan die mense van Rustenburg. Op daardie dag, terwyl ek in die VSA was, kon ek nooit indink dat 'n gemeenskap so sterk, so warm en so opreg agter 'n familie kan staan nie. Die ondersteuning wat ons ontvang het, het ons diep geraak. Ons kinders stap nog 'n lang, moeilike pad om hierdie verlies te verwerk. Hofprosesse en aanhoudende herinnering maak die rouproses soms swaarder en laat dit weer herleef. Maar elke sagte woord, elke "sterkte" wanneer ons julle raakloop — of dit nou in Rustenburg of selfs in Hartenbos is — elke drukkie en elke gebed, maak daardie pad net 'n bietjie ligter. Dankie vir julle teenwoordigheid en ondersteuning, selfs in die hof. Dit beteken werklik die wêreld vir ons drie kinders. Julle het vir ons gewys hoe groot impak ons ouers op soveel mense gehad het, en deur julle stories en herinneringe help julle ons om dit te sien en te waardeer. 'n Spesiale dankie ook aan die Mossie-vrouvereniging. Dankie vir julle oproepe, julle omgee en julle ondersteuning. Tannie Marie, dankie vir jou besondere woorde en jou warm hart. Ons waardeer elkeen van julle opreg.

Ons sal ons mamma en pappa nooit vergeet nie. Net so sal ons ook nie hierdie gemeenskap vergeet nie. Ons harte het nog 'n lang pad tot genesing, en afsluiting sal dalk nooit volkome kom nie. Maar ons weet: wie ons vandag is, is te danke aan die waardes, liefde en morele grondslag wat ons ouers ons geleer het — en wat julle as gemeenskap weerspieël het. Dankie, Rustenburg. Julle beteken meer vir ons as wat woorde ooit kan sê.

George (68) and Wilma Koster (65), whose lives were tragically cut short in a public shooting at Platinum Square Shopping Centre in June 2025.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – More than eight months after the fatal shooting of George (68) and Wilma Koster (65) at Platinum Square Shopping Centre in Rustenburg, their family is still waiting for justice. The case against the two accused, Onke Mbongo (40) and Gift Tinyiko Mhlanga (29), has been postponed from 29 January to 6 March 2026 while the Director of Public Prosecutions decides whether the matter will proceed to the High Court. The Koster's children say the ongoing delays have been emotionally overwhelming as they continue to grieve their parents' deaths. The accused, who face two counts of murder and defeating the ends of justice, were previously granted bail by the High Court despite the State maintaining that the victims were unarmed and that evidence from witnesses, CCTV footage and forensic findings supports its case.

Solidarity welcomes offer of 62c electricity tariff for Glencore and Samancor

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Solidarity welcomes the announcement by the minister of Electricity and Energy, Kgosiensho Ramokgopa, that an electricity tariff of 62c/kWh will provisionally be granted to stabilise the leading smelters in the ferrochrome industry in the short term. Although announced at the eleventh hour, this temporary relief provides much-needed breathing space for employees, particularly at Glencore-Merafe and Samancor, where tensions had escalated over the possibility of large-scale retrenchments. The companies set to benefit will nevertheless seek clarity regarding the conditions attached to the 62c offer, which remains subject to approval by the National Energy Regulator of South Africa (NERSA). The reality is that the initial interim tariff of 87.7c/kWh would not have been sufficient to sustain operations at facilities including those of Glencore-Merafe and Samancor.

According to Willie Venter, deputy general secretary of Solidarity, a 62c tariff could mark a significant turning point. "We are grateful that, at the eleventh hour, the pleas of workers and communities have indeed been heard. This decision could prevent the trigger from being pulled on retrenchments at Glencore-Merafe and Samancor, given that a deadline of 28 February was set for the improved tariff. However, we hope that the intention will be extended to safeguard jobs at other smelters beyond those of Glencore and Samancor. This is therefore not yet a comprehensive solution for the broader steel and manufacturing industry, and urgent work remains necessary to find solutions for the broader sector as well," said Venter.

The ferrochrome and related smelting industry has for some time been under severe pressure due to unfavourable market conditions and rising electricity costs. Companies such as Glencore and Samancor, as well as others, including the manganese smelter Transalloys, have long warned that closures would be unavoidable without a competitive tariff. Thousands of direct and indirect jobs across several provinces were therefore hanging in the balance.

"Following this announcement, it is encouraging that efforts will now be made to bring 49 out of a possible 66 smelters back online by the end of 2027. Currently, only 11 are operational. The above will consequently also create more than 11,000 direct jobs and generate over 100,000 indirect jobs – something the country urgently needs," said Venter. Solidarity hopes the intention will be to develop sustainable solutions for all participants in the sector and supports engagement between the government and other stakeholders to ensure the industry's viability.

"We are grateful for the intervention, but we urge the employers benefiting from this positive change to now take the necessary steps to bring the 45 smelters that are scheduled to be online by the end of 2026 into operation, and the remainder by the end of 2027. These smelters now have a significant responsibility to operate sustainably, create jobs, and protect employment," Venter said. Lastly, Solidarity calls on the Minister, Eskom, and all stakeholders to build on this constructive and focused process that has yielded success, and to address the many other challenges facing the various manufacturing sectors. The trade union will continue to actively defend the interests of its members and all affected workers.

SERVING TOGETHER

GrowthPoint Church and Our Ward Matters unite for major community clean-up

Community invited to join a powerful morning of service

Rustenburg residents are invited to take part in what promises to be one of the largest community clean-ups yet, as GrowthPoint Church partners with Our Ward Matters (OWM) for a major morning of service and community action.

The clean-up will take place on:

Saturday, 7 March 2026

Starting time: 07:00

Meeting point: GrowthPoint Church

Organisers say the event is about more than clearing litter and cutting back overgrowth — it is about bringing the community together to take ownership of shared spaces and build a safer environment for everyone. Residents, families, volunteers, and community organisations are encouraged to come along and lend a hand.

and public spaces.

Led by André van Dyk and Cllr Tanya Rothman, the initiative shows that when residents stand together and take ownership of their surroundings, positive change becomes visible.

Leading the way

On Wednesday, 25 February 2026, volunteers began clearing thick overgrowth in Cuckoo Avenue, behind residential homes. The clean-up was sparked by a resident who rallied neighbours to help restore the area. OWM members started debushing and cutting the overgrown veld, improving safety and reducing the risk of veld fires.

Work continued the next day in several locations, including the corner of Waterberg and Helen Joseph Street, where vegetation along the hillside was cleared towards the nearby open space. Another priority area was the corner near Total Tuscany Garage and behind Tuscany Spar, close to the water canal — a spot where dense bushes had created safety concerns and where squatters had been sleeping.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg

While many talk about improving their communities, Our Ward Matters (OWM) is taking action. Through regular clean-ups and hands-on work, the team is transforming neglected areas into cleaner, safer and more visible neighbourhood spaces. Their efforts now stretch across Wards 16 and 17 and are expanding into Ward 15, bringing renewed pride to local streets

Project Civitas shows the power of teamwork

Community spirit was clearly visible on 28 February during Project Civitas, a day dedicated to teamwork and service.

Christel Herbst captured the day's energy on video and also ensured volunteers had food and water — thoughtful support that kept everyone going. Mari du Plessis led volunteers, youth, and primary school learners in collecting litter, turning the clean-up into an important lesson about caring for the environment.

A Vision for a Future Community Park

OWM is now focusing on the open space around the tennis courts near Mopanie Avenue and Maroela Avenue, which volunteers believe could become a beautiful community park. The project follows repeated requests from residents — including an elderly family who had long asked when help would come to their area. The first donation towards the clean-up came from Marie Kemp, Ward 15 Committee Member, helping launch the initiative.

The team will continue clearing from Wildevy Centre towards the area opposite the centre and next to Rustenburg Baptist Church, before focusing on the tennis courts.

Removing dense bushes will eliminate hiding places — particularly important with two pre-schools nearby.

"This is not only about Protea Park's safety," said van Dyk. "It's about your children and the future of our community."

Meanwhile, Cllr Tanya Rothman led OWM members in Elandsrivier, clearing bushes and grass in an area affected by illegal dumping and helping load refuse bags into a skip provided by the Rustenburg Local Municipality Waste Department. At the same time, André van Dyk and the OWM team cleared dense vegetation in Tortelduif, Ward 14, using brushcutters, pangas, and blowers to leave the area clean and visible. Volunteers also painted street poles, speed humps, and road markings, contributing to improved safety and visibility.

The project was made possible through generous community support, including donations of time, funds, petrol, refuse bags, water, paint, and even wors rolls.

Would you tell someone if they had something stuck in their teeth?

Noticing someone has food stuck in their teeth can be awkward. Do you quietly let it go to avoid embarrassment, or politely point it out to spare them from a bigger moment later? Is it considerate to speak up — or kinder to stay silent? Tell us what you'd do.

"It depends on the setting. With friends or family it may not matter, but in a professional situation I would quietly and privately let them know so they can fix it before someone points it out publicly."

Cheryl Phillips, Rustenburg

"Yes, I would politely tell them. It's the considerate thing to do, and as people we should care for one another rather than let someone feel embarrassed later."

Kegomoditswe Mosime, Rustenburg

SOUTH AFRICA'S PETROL HIT A RECORD IN 2022... South Africa's highest petrol price was recorded in July 2022, when inland 95-octane petrol reached about R26.31 per litre — the most expensive in the country's history. The spike happened during the global energy crisis after the Russian invasion of Ukraine, which pushed international oil prices sharply higher. Because South Africa imports most of its oil and pays in US dollars, global conflicts can quickly raise local fuel prices. With new tensions and wars affecting energy markets today, many drivers hope fuel prices will not rise to record levels again.
