Diesels!

New Trend for Hijackers?

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – A routine diesel delivery turned into a nightmare for a local truck driver.

Ongoing instability in the Middle East conflict, especially tensions involving Iran, is disrupting global oil supply routes and keeping fuel prices under pressure.

In South Africa, this is directly translating into rising diesel and petrol prices. And while there may be short-term pauses in increases, the bigger picture is clear: things are tight, and many people are struggling. And where there is pressure... crime follows.

From ATM bombings to cash-in-transit attacks, and even recent retail looting, criminals are going where the money is. Now, fuel trucks — carrying thousands of rands worth of diesel — are becoming targets.

This was evident on Friday morning, 3 April 2026, when a 38-year-old truck driver arrived at a Rustenburg depot to deliver diesel of about R30,000.

According to constable Thuto Bobelo, the driver was approached by a man posing as someone assigned to assist him at the depot. Within moments, the situation escalated when the suspect produced a firearm and forced the driver back into the truck. Two additional suspects entered the vehicle, and the driver was ordered to drive off with them inside.

Trapped with his kidnapers. In a critical moment, the driver managed to activate a panic button without alerting the suspects.

The alert was received by members of the Cash-In-Transit (CIT) Task Team, who acted swiftly and traced the vehicle to Ramochana, near Rustenburg. Officers found the driver still inside the truck with the suspects. One suspect fled, while two men, aged 46 and 49, were arrested at the scene.

The suspects have been charged with hijacking and kidnapping and are expected to appear before the Rustenburg Magistrates' Court.

Acting provincial commissioner of North West, major general (Dr) Ryno Naidoo, commended the team for their rapid response, noting that their actions helped prevent further harm.

Ex-boyfriend jailed after brutal Marikana attack

Mob justice under scrutiny

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg
 – A 68-year-old man has been arrested in connection with a mob justice incident that left two people dead in Freedom Park, Phokeng, following an intelligence-driven police operation.

According to constable Thuto Bobelo, the arrest follows extensive search operations in the area after the victims were allegedly accused of business burglaries and subsequently killed by a group. A breakthrough came after Rustenburg Crime Intelligence received a tip-off identifying a suspect linked to the killings. This information was carefully analysed, leading to a coordinated operation involving the District Trio Task Team, District Tactical Response Team (TRT), and Phokeng Detectives.

Police proceeded to Freedom Park, where the 68-year-old suspect was located and arrested on charges of murder. He appeared before the Rustenburg Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, 7 April 2026.

The acting provincial commissioner of North West, major general (Dr) Ryno Naidoo, strongly condemned acts of mob justice, urging community members not to take the law into their own hands.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg

– A 45-year-old man has been sentenced to imprisonment following a violent assault and kidnapping incident involving his former partner in Marikana. On Friday, 27 March 2026, the Rustenburg Regional Court sentenced Mokhethi Nyakane to ten years' direct imprisonment for assault with intent to cause grievous bodily harm. According to warrant officer Ofentse Mkgadi, the court heard that the incident took place in June 2024. Nyakane followed his ex-girlfriend after she had parted ways with a friend. He then assaulted her with a beer bottle, striking her in the face, before forcefully detaining her at his residence overnight. At the time of the attack, Nyakane was already under a protection order, which prohibited him from contacting or approaching the victim. Further charges included kidnapping and contravention of a protection order under the Domestic Violence Act. He was sentenced to an additional two years for each of these offences. These sentences will run concurrently with the main sentence.

Detective sergeant Laurence Maledu of the Marikana Detectives Unit led the investigation and successfully opposed bail, ensuring that Nyakane remained in custody from the time of his arrest through to sentencing.

Detective sergeant Laurence Maledu, who led the investigation that secured a conviction in the Marikana assault and kidnapping case.

With control zones expanded and movement restrictions tightened, farmers are under pressure to follow strict biosecurity measures to curb the spread of foot-and-mouth disease.

FMD update: new zones, stricter controls as outbreak persists

Platinum Publishers | SA – The latest update on foot-and-mouth disease (FMD) confirms that the outbreak remains active, with authorities now expanding control zones and tightening livestock movement restrictions in affected regions.

Government has reiterated its response strategy, noting that “the department continues to implement controlled measures, including movement restrictions and vaccination in affected areas, to contain the spread of foot-and-mouth disease,” according to the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development in a late March 2026 update.

While the disease is not new to farmers, the current phase is being closely managed, with veterinary teams intensifying surveillance and tracing efforts to contain further spread. Recent updates indicate that additional farms have been placed under quarantine, and movement permits are now more strictly enforced, particularly in and out of designated Disease Management Areas (DMAs).

Authorities are stressing that biosecurity must now be treated as non-negotiable. This includes:

- Disinfecting vehicles and equipment entering farms
- Limiting visitor access
- Avoiding shared grazing where possible

The extended restrictions are placing ongoing strain on farmers, particularly those relying on livestock sales and auctions. Industry stakeholders warn that prolonged control measures could have knock-on effects on local meat supply chains and pricing, although no major shortages have been confirmed at this stage.

ON AIR AND ON THE GROUND

Our Ward Matters amplifies community action!

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – From boots on the ground to voices on the airwaves, Our Ward Matters (OWM) continues to inspire change where it matters most.

On Tuesday, 7 April 2026, André van Dyk joined Pieter Motiveer live on Harties FM, shining a spotlight on the real, ongoing work taking place across Wards 15, 16 and 17 in Rustenburg. The conversation highlighted how consistency, teamwork, and daily discipline are transforming neglected spaces into cleaner, safer, and more visible environments for all.

From cutting overgrown grass to clearing illegal dumping hotspots, OWM's mission remains simple yet powerful: show up, stay consistent, and lead by example. The radio platform reinforced a key message – real change is not driven by talk, but by action. As more residents get involved and take ownership of their surroundings, the ripple effect of positive change continues to grow across Rustenburg.

A heartfelt thank you to Pieter Motiveer and Harties FM for giving the community a voice – and to every resident playing their part.

From the airwaves to action: Pieter Motiveer (Harties FM) and André van Dyk (Our Ward Matters) championing community-driven change.

was shared: residents must get involved — your voice matters. Community members are encouraged to attend Public Participation and IDP (integrated development plan) meetings, where concerns around water, electricity and service delivery can be raised, and accountability begins. Real change requires action, unity and consistent community involvement.

Join the biggest mining, engineering, mineral and processing exhibition

The annual Rustenburg Mining, Engineering, Mineral Processing Exhibition is set to take place on 16 April 2026 at the Impala Rugby Club, and all industry personnel are invited to attend.

The event is hosted by the travelling Mining and Technical Exhibitions (MTE), who have been connecting mining professionals with relevant suppliers to address daily operational challenges for more than 30 years. This expo is one of MTE's biggest shows.

This show is created for professionals who often operate in remote areas, and gives them access to innovative equipment, the latest safety gear, service support and technical expertise such as a missing person locator, water control, compressors, circuit breaker, fire detection on belt, dust suppression, hydrocarbon management, oil separation, diesel particulate matter, fuel management systems, and hydraulic pump and corrosion prevention systems, among others.

This expo will be beneficial for senior managers, engineers, maintenance teams and operational managers, as they will have an opportunity to engage with suppliers uninterrupted and on home ground – allowing them to engage with suppliers about their daily mining needs. The show will also give mining houses a chance to review the latest safety and industry trends.

The event is free of charge to visitors and mining professionals. Join the MTE team and witness suppliers specialising in equipment or products used in the platinum and chrome mining process – from the provision of mining, processing, smelting and refining equipment or services, the event promises to be highly beneficial to mining officials from senior to junior.

The showcase will be held from 13:00 to 17:00, with specially curated suppliers exhibiting their latest innovations.

1. AFTER DIVERSITY MAXIMUM DEMAND (ADMD) VALUES: ADMD's applicable for the calculation of Engineering Contribution rates will be as follow: Description ADMD Residential As per NRS 069 and NRS 034 for the applicable consumption class Hotel, Guest House or equivalent 80 VA/m <sup>2</sup> Business, Office or equivalent 80 VA/m <sup>2</sup> Light Industrial, Garage or equivalent 40 VA/m <sup>2</sup> Educational or equivalent 20 VA/m <sup>2</sup> Devotional, agricultural, nursery, scrap yard or equivalent 20 VA/m <sup>2</sup>
2. MAXIMUM DEMAND (IN KVA) CALCULATION 2.1 General note: 2.1.1 The higher of the value calculated at secondary transformation level by: 1) The Developer's appointed Professional Electrical Engineer, or 2) The value as determined by the applicable formula below according to the development's zoning 2.1.2 The RLM may advise the customer where it is deemed necessary for the customer to increase its notified maximum demand. 2.1.3 Maximum demand may only be lowered by lowering town planning rights 2.1.4 Where town planning rights cannot be lowered and a developer insists on a maximum demand lower than figures calculated according to 2.1.1 then the developer shall register a servitude of constraint in the title deed of the property concerned. 2.1.5 A maximum demand shall be calculated for each legal property, or notorially tied property. In the case of new township or a mixed-use development a consolidated maximum demand may be calculated in terms of item 2.07 for the entire development. 2.2 Residential development 2.2.1 As determined according to Formula in par 4.2.2 of NRS 034-1:2001, as amended from time from time to time. 2.2.2 Parameters a, b and c are determined as per table 3a of NRS 034-1:2001 as amended from time to time, for standard ADMD values. 2.2.3 Parameters for a and b for a given circuit breaker size c shall be otherwise determined in terms of the formulas set out in NRS 034-1:2001, as amended from time to time. 2.3 Commercial, Governmental and other non-domestic loads, excluding industrial loads: Maximum demand (in kVA) = ADMD (in kVA/m <sup>2</sup> from Table 1) x FAR x Stand area (in m <sup>2</sup> )   Where FAR is the Floor to Area Ratio, i.e. the area of total building floor area divided by total stand area. The total building floor area shall be deemed to include all lettable areas, including common building areas. 2.4 Light Industrial: Maximum demand (in kVA) = ADMD (in kVA/m <sup>2</sup> from Table 1) x FAR x Stand area (in m <sup>2</sup> ) 2.5 Heavy Industrial: As determined by the developer's consulting engineer (Professional Electrical Engineer) 2.6 Special loads: Special loads are deemed to be loads associated with special zoning such as storage garages, cemeteries, churches. The higher of the value calculated at secondary transformation level by: 1. 13.8 kVA (equivalent to 60 A single phase) 2. the developer's appointed Professional Electrical Engineer 2.7 Mixed-use loads: Any combination of the above, with diversity factors applied or composite load curves submitted to determine the annual coincident maximum demand of the saturated development (i.e. for the full development when all properties have been developed). Diversification factors shall be applied at secondary transformation level. 2.8 Phased developments: For phased developments, any combination of the above, subject thereto that Council has approved such phased development and the payment of contributions in respect of each phase.
3. ENGINEERING CONTRIBUTIONS Engineering contributions shall be calculated by multiplying the determined demand in kVA by the rate per kVA stated for the appropriate point of connection below: 3.1 For high voltage connections 88 kV 3.1.1 For a connection directly to the 88 kV busbars of a primary intake-substation: In addition, the developer pays for the dedicated infrastructure, being a full 88 kV feeder bay inclusive of busbar isolator, circuit breaker, CTs and VTs, line isolator, metering requirements, jumpers, clamps, protection relays and the 88 kV line. 4.40% 194.45 4.90% 203.98 per kVA 4.4% 212.95 0.037 220.83 per kVA 3.2 For medium voltage connections (11 &amp; 33 kV) from the urban network 3.2.1 For a connection directly to the 33 kV busbars of a substation: In addition, the developer pays for the dedicated infrastructure, being a 33 kV feeder bay inclusive of circuit breaker, CTs and VTs, metering requirements, protection relays and 33 kV cable. 4.40% 585.72 4.90% 614.42 per kVA 4.4% 641.46 0.037 665.19 per kVA 3.2.2 For a connection directly to existing 33 kV cables: In addition, the Developer shall be responsible to provide the dedicated infrastructure, inclusive of 33 kV circuit breaker, CTs and VTs, metering requirements, protection relays, 33 kV cable and terminations, transformers, 11kV infrastructure as well as any downstream infrastructure required. This type of connection is not recommended and should be avoided where possible, especially along primary 33 kV cables with differential protection. 4.40% 0.00 4.90% 1 544.08 per kVA 4.4% 1 612.02 0.037 1 671.66 per kVA 3.2.3 For a connection directly to the 11 kV busbars of a substation: In addition, the developer pays for the dedicated infrastructure, being an 11 kV feeder bay inclusive of circuit breaker, CTs and VTs, metering requirements, protection relays and 11 kV cable. 4.40% 0.00 4.90% 1 544.08 per kVA 4.4% 0.037 1 671.66 per kVA 3.2.4 For a connection directly to a 11 kV ring: RLM pays for the ring main unit and upstream 11 kV infrastructure. # Clothing drive brings community together

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Moses Kotane – A spirit of generosity and unity filled Pella village, near Madikwe, on 25 February 2026, as the Tshepiso Senne Foundation hosted a successful clothing donation drive, reaching hundreds of community members.

With a mission to support those in need through regular clothing distributions, the foundation has been making a meaningful difference for the past five years. Every two months, a new village is selected, where community members gather at a local sports ground to receive clothing in an organised and inclusive environment. The initiative provides clothing for all ages and seasons, with donations ranging from children's wear to adult clothing. Items are carefully sorted to ensure that only good-quality clothing is distributed. Donations are received throughout the year, with many contributors dropping off items in Kgale Section, Phokeng, or arranging collections.

Thanks to a structured system supported by ushers, the foundation works to ensure fair distribution. However, the growing demand remains a challenge. In some cases, turnout has far exceeded expectations – highlighting both the reach of the initiative and the ongoing need within communities.

The initiative is made possible through the support of local businesses, including Phemela Mmanape, Rebagaka Mining, Mimmed Holdings, and Setlamo Mining, who assist with essentials such as food, transport, and water. Additional support from Born Fire Ministry Pella and councillor Castro Setlhong helps ensure smooth coordination and strong community participation.

Director and founder Tshepiso Senne expressed appreciation for the continued support: "We welcome clothing donations in good condition and encourages community members to get involved in supporting future drives."

Know Your Rights, Protect Our Elders

"We as the South African Human Rights Commission would like to say to the community of Rustenburg: each and every person can report a matter that pertains to the infringement of another person's human rights — even if it does not involve you directly. You can speak up for the elderly, for children, for people living with disabilities, and for those in marginalised communities."

Oarabile Gaoraelwe, South African Human Rights Commission advocacy and researcher

Khulisa Social Solutions engaging elderly community members — empowering them with knowledge about their rights.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg — Khulisa Social Solutions hosted an informative workshop on Tuesday 24 March 2026, aimed at empowering elderly persons with knowledge about their human rights and the steps to take when those rights are violated.

As part of Human Rights Month, elderly community members from Paardekraal and Tlhabane gathered for a meaningful engagement focused on awareness, support, and empowerment. The event followed a series of community dialogues where key concerns — such as abuse, neglect, and lack of access to services — were raised.

"Khulisa Social Solutions, through its H.E.A.R.T Project — an initiative funded by the Sibanye Rustenburg Mine Community Development Trust (SRMCDT) — hosted an Older Persons Rights and Empowerment Workshop. This followed concerns raised during community engagement dialogues with elderly residents across Rustenburg townships. In response, we invited the South African Human Rights Commission and the Department of Social Development to provide guidance and support," said Ceasar Maseola, project lead for the Khulisa H.E.A.R.T Project.

The workshop unpacked the rights of older persons, guided by the Older Persons Act and the Constitution. Social worker Eunice Manamela from the Department of Social Development highlighted that the law exists to protect the dignity and wellbeing of elderly people, whether at home or in care facilities. A major concern raised was the growing number of abuse cases affecting elderly persons, including financial exploitation — particularly involving the misuse of SASSA grants. Representing the South African Human Rights Commission, Oarabile Gaoraelwe encouraged communities to take action when witnessing rights violations. The commission noted that many elderly individuals are unaware of their rights or where to report violations. Workshops like these aim to close that gap by providing direct access to information and support channels. Khulisa Social Solutions also encouraged the formation of support groups to keep communities connected and informed.

Elderly participants Onica Setumo and Gadifele Chaba shared challenges such as substance abuse in communities and the burden of raising grandchildren without sufficient support. They called for greater responsibility and respect from younger generations.

The session concluded with an open discussion, giving attendees the opportunity to ask questions and seek guidance — reinforcing that help is available and their voices matter.

"I think the youth can help the elderly people by getting involved in their activities and supporting them. Even joining their gym clubs or community programmes can make a difference."

HAVE YOUR SAY

Are rising petrol and diesel prices making you consider carpooling, using taxis, or sharing transport?

With fuel prices climbing sharply, many households are feeling the strain. Transport is one of the biggest monthly expenses, especially for daily commuters. Could sharing lifts, using public transport, or adjusting travel habits help ease the pressure on your pocket?

"No, as a person that makes use of public transportation every day for shopping, clinic visits and school, it is already very expensive. If cycle shops made triple tandem bicycles available, I'd consider it."

Chantelle Smit, Rustenburg

"Yes. I started months ago sharing rides to common destinations like work or events to save money. At this rate, travel is becoming about necessity, not leisure — meaning fewer visits to friends and family."

Kwazi Rangwaga, Rustenburg

SOUTH AFRICA'S CITRUS IS TAKING ON THE WORLD...
SA is on track for another record citrus export season, with growers expecting to ship between 210 and 215 million cartons in 2026 — up from an already record 203.4 million cartons in 2025 (forecast released on 1 April 2026).

As the world's second-largest citrus exporter, South Africa supplies oranges, lemons, grapefruit and mandarins to markets across Europe and the Middle East. This booming industry not only feeds millions worldwide; it also plays a vital role in creating jobs and supporting local farming communities across the country.

Boxer's 2026 Youth Leadership Programme Inspires

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Limpopo – South Africa's favourite Discount Supermarket recently celebrated the successful completion of the 2026 edition of the Boxer Youth Leadership Programme (BYLP), held at Sugar Bay Camp in Northern KwaZulu-Natal.

Now in its 24th year, the programme continues to grow in impact, bringing together 50 exceptional learners from across South Africa and Eswatini for a fully sponsored, week-long leadership experience. Selected through a competitive video entry process, many participants travelled by bus and air – some for the first time – to attend the programme.

Over five days, learners were immersed in a carefully designed blend of physical, mental, and leadership-building activities. From rock climbing, BMX riding, swimming, roller skating and paintball, to structured debates and team challenges, participants were encouraged to step out of their comfort zones, build resilience, and collaborate with peers from diverse backgrounds.

A key highlight of the programme was the opportunity for learners to engage directly with Boxer leadership, department heads, and specialists. These sessions provided valuable insight into the retail industry and the many career pathways available, while reinforcing the importance of purpose-driven work and community impact. The programme culminated in a formal graduation ceremony, celebrating the achievements and personal growth of each participant.

Speaking on the importance of the initiative, Ntombi Dlodla, Group Executive for Sustainability and Stakeholder Engagement, said: "At Boxer, we believe that investing in young people is investing in the future of our communities and our country."

As the BYLP Class of 2026 returns home inspired and empowered, Boxer Superstores remains committed to expanding the reach and impact of the BYLP for years to come.
